

BIG SEA FIGHTER JOINS THE NAVY

Senator Money's Daughter
Acts as Sponsor.

CHAMPAGNE FAVORED

Southerners Not Converted to the Water Doctrine at Such Functions.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30.—Bubbling over with good spirits, Senator H. D. Money, from Mississippi, with Mrs. Money and their daughter, Miss Mabel Clare Money, arrived yesterday to attend the launching of the battleship Mississippi at Cramps' shipyard this afternoon.

Miss Money appeared in the role of sponsor for the warship. Accompanied by Gen. George B. Williams, representative of the Cramps at Washington, and Mrs. Williams, the launching party arrived at Broad Street Station at 4 o'clock and was driven to the Bellevue-Stratford.

Senator Money says he has no new-fangled ideas on the christening of battleships, nor has Miss Money. Champagne is the beverage they have always favored.

In Vardaman's Place.

Because Governor Vardaman is too busy directing the fight against yellow fever to leave the State, Senator Money was Mississippi's official representative at the launching. With his family, he left his home at Mississippi City at the first indication of a fever epidemic, and has spent the summer at the Sweetwater Park Springs, Ga.

There is no doubt that the worst of the epidemic is over," said the Senator. "I have just received a letter from Surgeon General Wyman, in which he tells me that yellow fever will be dead before Jack Frost comes."

Costly Policy.

When asked his opinion of the government's policy in increasing the navy, Senator Money said:

"Well, it's pretty costly to build battleships like this new one; but if we don't attend strictly to our own business, we may need them some time, and it may be well to be prepared."

A dinner to the launching party was given last night in the pink room of the Bellevue-Stratford by Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Grove, of Germantown.

Mississippi Practically Obsolete Before Service

Although the battleship Mississippi is one of the latest additions to the navy to be authorized by Congress, naval officers do not regard her as an up-to-date ship of her class, owing to her comparatively low speed and small tonnage.

None of the new ships recently constructed, or now being built, with the exception of the Mississippi and her sister ship the Idaho, has a speed as low as seventeen knots—that specified for the Mississippi—and none has a smaller tonnage than 15,000, except these two ships, which are to have a displacement of only 13,000 tons. Both the Mississippi and the Idaho are being built on lines laid down by Congress against the urgent protest and recommendation of the Navy Department. The ships are about the same size as the Oregon, constructed many years ago, and by the time they receive their coat of paint they will be practically obsolete.

Because of their low speed, they will have to be grouped in fleet formation with the older battleships or be assigned to detached duty.

The Mississippi will carry a main battery of four 12-inch guns; eight 8-inch guns; eight 7-inch guns, and two 3-inch guns submerged torpedo tubes. Her second battery will consist of twelve 3-inch guns; six 3-pounder automatic guns, and several other guns of small caliber.

She will have ample armor protection.

MUNICIPAL PAY DAYS COME LATER IN MONTH

Treasury's New Plan Necessitates Delay for City Employees Except Teachers and Firemen.

Commissioner West, after a conference with Judge Tracewell on the new methods of paying city employees, called for by a circular of the Comptroller of the Treasury, has made arrangements to send the checks and pay rolls through the auditor's office, so that school teachers and firemen will be paid on the first of the month.

The army of per diem employees, who have heretofore been paid on the 3d and 14th of the month, will now be paid on the 4th and 15th.

All pay rolls will have attached to them the certificates required by the Comptroller of the Treasury.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB'S HOUSEWARMING MEET

At Villa Flora Roadhouse on Brightwood Road, Monday
Evening, October 9—Two Hundred Will Be Present.
Arrange Run to Frederick Fair.

The initial meeting of the automobile club of Washington will be held at the Villa Flora roadhouse, on Brightwood road, Monday evening, October 9.

At a meeting of the "autolists" in the rooms of the Washington Board of Trade, last night, a committee consisting of R. W. Cook, Leroy Mark, F. B. Pyle, and H. B. Williams, was named to arrange for the affair.

It was, however, prearranged that the initial meeting should be a genuine "housewarming" affair, and to follow out this idea the committee has announced that "stag" rules will be in order.

Two Hundred Expected.

It is expected that least 200 "autolists" will avail themselves of the occasion to make the "christening" of the club a worthy event.

A buffet luncheon will be served and many prominent people in the official life of the District will be invited to "address" the club members.

The first automobile club run, as announced last night, will be to the county fair at Frederick, Md.

The run will be arranged for by R. B. Caverly, captain of the club, and it was said last night to eliminate the possibility of the members going astray on the run, that an advance guard would be sent out the day before to mark out the route from Washington to the fair.

Promising Outlook.

Leroy Mark, secretary of the club, reported at last night's meeting that the outlook for the club's stability was most promising, and at the weekly meeting next Friday night a number of applications for membership would be ready to be acted on.

There has been some unlooked-for delay in securing a suitable clubhouse for the organization. Several desirable localities have been talked of, but there is a slight technicality to be overcome before the permanent location of the club will be announced.

It was said after last night's meeting that the announcement would be made at the "housewarming."

THE CITY HALTS.

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 30.—All business was suspended in this city yesterday during the funeral services for Mayor Augustus S. Miller, who died suddenly Tuesday of heart failure. The services at Grace Episcopal Church were conducted by the Rev. E. S. Roumaniere, the rector, and were largely attended.

BEY OF BALLYHOO PUT PULLMAN PORTER DOWN

But the Bey Had to Pay Ten Dollars for the Job on the

"Muley Mustapha, the Bey of Ballyhoo," as he appears in "Nancy Brown," at the Lafayette Theater, or William C. Mandeville, as he appears in private life and on the police records, was arraigned in Police Court this morning, charged with assaulting George Ganaway, a Pullman porter, on Sunday, September 24.

Mandeville was arrested Sunday, and put up $10 for his appearance Monday, which he forfeited.

Ganaway secured a writ of attachment against the actor, and he appeared in Police Court, guarded by a deputy marshal.

The evidence indicated that the actor and the porter did a heavy scene at the station, exchanging some of the villain's stock language and then mixing it.

The porter rushed, the actor ducked, swung, connected with the jaw, and put the porter out of action.

THE HISTORY OF CHAMPAGNE—No. 2.

EARLY VINTAGERS of the Champagne district of France noticed the tendency of their wines to effervesce. It remained for Dom Perignon, a Monk of St Peter's Abbey, Hautvillers, to discover, about 1670, how to control this effervescence, to preserve the quality as desired, until he obtained the rarest, most delicate of all wines, Champagne.

The fame of French Champagnes, plus $8.00 duty, doubling the price, makes some people think them worth more than

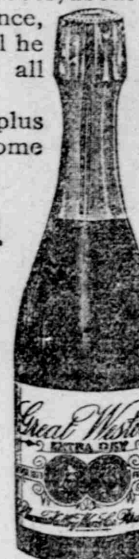

Great Western

Extra Dry

In reply, we only ask that you try Great Western. Great Western Champagne actually has the fine flavor and rare bouquet found in French Champagnes. This is due to the long cultivation of Great Western Vineyards—the oldest in New York State. These soils have actually attained the chemical condition which imparts that quality hitherto found only in foreign goods.

Try Great Western—equal to foreign Champagnes, at half the price.

TERROR FORCED MRS. MAY'S HAND

misstep until life became a burden and her usual pleasures turned to ashes. For months she was subjected to the most incredible mental strain, as she fought against the bondage in which her temper held her.

Against Her Will.

It will be sworn that he coerced her into doing his will when her nature was a mute revolt and her voice a continual outcry against him; that he told her in plain words he would reveal all to the world if she disobeyed him; that she had all to lose, while he would go scot-free in such a contingency.

It will be testified that, at last, feeling unequal to the struggle and looking back with yearning to the time when she had known no other ideal than that of a perfect wife and unassailable mother, she went to her husband and confessed to him the misery of her secret and the lasting woe against which she fought without cessation.

People will say he heard her story and believed it, that he took her side and promised her, amid tender words and caresses, that he would help her in her struggle against her burden.

Other evidence will be taken to show that, as good as his word, he went to Lieutenant Santelmann, leader of the Marine Band, to which both he and Conen belonged, asking the leader to see what he could do with Conen; that Santelmann, in turn, asked and asked him about the matter, and that Conen not only confessed his relations with Mrs. May, but made further accusations against her to the effect that she had had like relations with other men than himself.

Driven to Vengeance.

Witnesses will tell how the woman, hearing this last news from her husband, lost control of herself and thought only of a way to avenge herself on the man who, she said, had cruelly traduced her and slandered her without facts to support his awful assertions.

She took things in her own hands. Going to the street, she waited for Conen as he returned from the concert at the Capitol. When he passed her she shot him down, crying out that he had slandered her.

It will be shown, say her friends, that she held in the most terrible bondage, rebelled continuously and used every means of her woman's wits to frustrate the plans of the temple who pursued her with a relentless that knew no mercy.

Each time she failed, and each time her weight of shame grew heavier until at last, broken in spirit and weary at heart, she went to the arms of her husband and made him the pillar of her strength, the last harbor of safety to which she could flee.

Mrs. May is a charming woman of medium height, a brunette, vivacious and intelligent. She has four children living. Up to the present time, say her friends, no word of suspicion had ever been breathed against her.

Her husband is a man of strong will, respected by all who know him.

"STAR CHAMBER" HEARING ON M STREET SCHOOL CASE

The Board of Education held a short session last night on the M Street High School affair.

Director Hughes and John T. Lowe were the only witnesses before the board, but the nature of their testimony would not be divulged.

The next meeting of the board will be held on next Wednesday evening.
